

BlandsLaw Commercial Agreements Services Description

We are a boutique law firm providing specialised and expert legal advice on a wide range of commercial and business law issues as they arise for our clients.

Our team has extensive experience in drafting all types of commercial agreements including the following:

1. License Agreements

We can advise on and draft a license agreement to suit your particular situation ensuring your commercial needs are met while protecting your business interests and risks. Following are some recent examples of types of license agreements we have drafted or advised on for our clients:

- Use and distribution of software products,
- Use and application of a business methodology,
- Use of copyright documents
- Access to professional services and expertise.

2. Service Agreements

It is essential when providing services to another party, or when services are being provided to you, to ensure the service agreement is well drafted to protect your interests and clearly sets out the expectations of both parties. We can draft a service agreement tailored to your needs, or review an agreement proposed by the other party to ensure it contains all the relevant terms and appropriately reflects the agreement between you and the other party. We can also advise on the appropriateness and ramifications of this type of agreement where there is uncertainty about the contractor/employee distinction and how this applies in your situation.

3. Shareholder Agreements

When setting up a company it is imperative to create certainty around the rights and obligations of shareholders, and how the shares are to be issued and treated in the event that shareholding changes. Each shareholder agreement is different as it reflects the agreement between the parties and we will ensure the shareholder agreement incorporates the specific needs along with the company protections required.

4. Director and Chairman Agreements

We can draft an agreement to include the standard director and/or chairman duties and obligations, as well as incorporate your specific business requirements.

Whatever the situation we can provide the necessary legal advice, ensuring your business needs are met and your interests protected.

Please do not hesitate to contact us for all your business agreement needs. We will then provide you with a personalised proposal tailored to your needs.

